VISION ELITE ROYALTY DANCE THEATRE

COMPANY BIO

Vision Elite Royalty Dance Theatre is a culturally rooted touring company based in the Carolinas, dedicated to storytelling, community empowerment, and creating paid opportunities for underrepresented dancers. Founded and directed by Jane Johnson, the company blends contemporary dance, African diasporic movement, hip hop, jazz, ballet, and theatrical narrative to create work that uplifts, educates, and inspires audiences of all ages.

Over the past 14 years, Vision Elite Royalty Dance Theatre has built a strong regional and national presence, performing across North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Virginia, Tennessee, and New York. The company has sold out the Historic Douglass Theatre twice, presented multiple times at the Atlanta Black Theatre Festival, appeared at New York Fashion Week, and opened the Queen City Awards. Their work has been featured in schools, theaters, festivals, art galleries, and cultural institutions throughout the Southeast.

The company's signature production, The Dark Chocolate Nutcracker, is a large-scale theatrical experience featuring a 35-member cast of dancers, actors, vocalists, and youth performers. The production reimagines a classic holiday story through the lens of African American culture, history, and community celebration. Vision Elite Royalty Dance Theatre is currently expanding its touring footprint with a 4-6 dancer ensemble, offering a flexible, high-impact program designed for festivals, theaters, colleges, and community events.

At the heart of the company's mission is a commitment to creating paid performance opportunities for underprivileged and emerging dancers in the Carolinas, providing access, mentorship, and professional touring experience. Vision Elite Royalty Dance Theatre continues to grow as a dynamic force in the region, building bridges between culture, community, and the performing arts.

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR BIO

Jane Johnson is the founder and artistic director of Vision Elite Royalty, a Charlotte, North Carolina-based performing arts organization established in 2012. She leads both the professional company, Vision Elite Royalty Dance Theatre, and the training academy, Vision Elite Royalty School of Dance.

As a choreographer, producer, and arts educator, Johnson is dedicated to developing dancers while creating culturally inspired dance theatre productions. Her work blends classical dance technique with contemporary movement and storytelling rooted in cultural expression.

Under her leadership, Vision Elite Royalty Dance Theatre has presented original productions including Dark Chocolate Nutcracker and Instrumental at venues such as the historic Douglass Theatre. The company has also been featured multiple times at the Atlanta Black Theatre Festival, where it has been invited back for additional performances.

Johnson is passionate about building opportunities for emerging dancers and creating productions that celebrate culture, artistry, and community through dance.
